Name of Faculty/Staff : Dr. Sandeep Kumar Tomar

Area : Solid State Ionics

Title of the Programme : 15th Asian conference on solid state ionics (ACSSI-2016)

Brief Detail of the Programme : Solid state ionics (SSI) is a multidisciplinary scientific and industrial field dealing with ion transport phenomena in solids and its technological applications. Ions in motion may sometimes also involve electronic motion leading to mixed (ion-electron transport) conduction in solid state depending on materials and surroundings. An understanding of the subject fundamentals is, therefore, essentially important to analyses the pros and cons of the ionic materials (that include; inorganic crystalline and polycrystalline solids, ceramics, glasses, polymers and composites) and their processing for device (that include; energy storage/conversion, sensors, display etc.) applications.
